

GBV CASE IN REGION XI

A five-month pregnant was detained in a police station somewhere in Region XI notwithstanding the fact that she was already arrested and the inquest proceedings was already completed last February 2020. Up to this date, she is still detained in the said police station. Consequently, the case was referred to the CHR-XI, with allegations that the said victim has suffered abuse in the police station where she is currently detained. The Commission recommended for her immediate transfer but until now she has not been transferred to the appropriate penal institution.
